CITY ATTORNEY MUST FIGHT CASE IN HIGHER COURT

City Solicitor Campbell Says
He Has Spent More Time In Hugh Boyle Matter Than
He Can Afford Outside His Duties—Mayor Will Fight It Out

THE ORDINANCE INVALID AGAIN

"I don't mind stating this," said City Solicitor Campbell, when asked about further proceedings in the Hugh Boyle case, lost in the circuit court. "I told the mayor and told the general council, that if the case of Hugh Boyle, charged with selling liquor without a license, is further prosecuted, the city attorney or some one else, employed by the city will have to do it. I have already spent more time on this case than I can afford. I did it at the solicitation of certain members of the general council and the mayor. It comes clearly within the duties of the city attorney, and not the solicitor. In the case in which the validity of a city ordinance was directly attacked by injunction proceedings, I defended, as I considered it my duty, but this is an appeal from police court."

Judge Reed, of the circuit court, in an extensive written opinion this morning, held against the city in the cases against Hugh Boyle, formerly saloonkeeper at Fourth street and Kentucky avenue, charged with selling liquor without a license. He sustained a demurrer because he found the indictment defective, in not specifically enough defining the offense, and the ordinance invalid.

The case was appealed from the police court, and City Solicitor Campbell has handled the appeal alone, City Attorney Harrison, playing no part in the further proceedings.

Mayor Yeiser is in favor of continuing the fight. "I want to find out whether the city has a right to revoke the license of a saloonkeeper, who violates the law, and I want to find out whether we have the right to punish those who continue selling after the license is revoked. If we have not, I want to show it up." Mayor Yeiser and City Solicitor Campbell said they do not know what proceedings will follow, until the general council authorizes some course.

Died of Complications.

Robert Newton, 51 years old, died of a complication of diseases yesterday afternoon at 1008 South Eleventh street. The funeral was held this afternoon. The burial was in Oak Grove cemetery.

WITH PISTOL IN HAND.

John Dunn Found Dead in His Bed at Slater.

John Dunn, twenty-eight years old, a farmer of Slater, Ballard county, was found dead in bed this morning with a pistol in his hand and a bullet wound in his head. Dunn shot and killed his uncle, Jeff Irvin, last December and was tried and acquitted on the grounds of self-defense.

Buried By the County.

The body of Mrs. Jessie White, the young woman who died in the county sanitarium a week ago, was buried in the county cemetery this afternoon. The undertakers received word Saturday from the woman's brother, Frank McCaughy, of Rose Claire, Ill., that he was unable to send funds to have the body taken there for burial.

Runabout Wrecked.

A horse, belonging to the West Kentucky Coal company, ran away late Saturday afternoon and wrecked a light runabout to which it was hitched. The animal ran several miles out into the country before it was caught.

Cleveland, O., Oct. 28.—Record-breaking registration has been a matter of surprise to political leaders generally, and the election experts are now kept busy trying to analyze its meaning, and the probable effect on the interests respectively of Mayor Tom L. Johnson, who is seeking a fourth term, and of Congressman Theodore Burton, the Republican nominee. Registration has reached a total of 95,000, which is nearly 20,000 in excess of the normal vote in the city elections.

MR. VOGT DIE'S

Mr. Tony Vogt, father-in-law of Henry and Joseph Gockel, died this afternoon at his home, 1008 South Twelfth street.

Your Whole Duty

Business men of the city who desire a business administration of the city's affairs; owners of homes, who fear excessive taxation with relatively little benefit; working men, who wish the city to prosper that their opportunities may be broadened, will support James P. Smith for mayor. His election is as certain as anything can be in American politics. But these good people must not lose sight of the whole situation. Harmony in the work of progress and upbuilding is necessary to the complete success of the administration. It would not do to put Mr. Smith in office, and leave him to cope with a general council and other city officials, whose prejudice might lead them, under malign influences from the outside, to devote their attention to embarrassing the administration. We want everybody to be working for a greater Paducah, and in order to do that we must elect James P. Smith mayor and at the same time elect other officials and council boards perfectly in sympathy, and capable of working in harmony, not only with him, but the policy which he shall outline. Voters, perform your whole duty.

OFFICIAL CALL FOR CONVENTION OF WATERWAYS

Cincinnati, Oct. 28.—An official call for a meeting of the national rivers and harbors congress has been sent out by President Randall, of Louisiana, and Secretary Ellison, of this city. The congress will assemble at the New Willard in Washington, on December 4th.

The call is specific in its declaration that no special project for river or harbor improvement will be considered. It will stand for a broad policy by the national government for all improvements recommended by the board of engineers of the army to the congress of the United States.

The design and purpose of the national rivers and harbors congress is to demand that a more liberal proportion of the revenue of the government derived from commerce shall be expended in improving the national channels of trade and transportation the amount heretofore appropriated for such improvements having been about three per cent.

INSPECTORS HERE TOURING SYSTEM OF I. C. RAILWAY

The annual inspection train, bearing high officials of the Illinois Central, with division superintendents, reached Paducah this morning at 9:05 o'clock and was dispatched straight through to Louisville. Inspectors remaining in Paducah only long enough to change engines. The train is winding up a tour of the entire system, and will go to Chicago from Louisville.

On the train are President J. T. Harahan, Second Vice-President I. G. Rawn, Chief Engineer H. R. Safford and the division superintendents. The train was made up of one baggage car, a diner, two sleepers, three business cars and one observation car. The latter car carries appliances, which record every dip in the grade, and show the condition of the roadbed. The result of the observations of this car are first considerations in awarding a prize for the best one mile of roadbed on the system.

Mr. A. H. Egan, superintendent of the Louisville division, with other division officials met the train here and went on it to Louisville. The special, in charge of Conductor John Wheeldon, arrived from Jackson, Tenn., via Fulton. It was pulled by engine No. 1006, in charge of Engineer Louis Cofer and Fireman Ludwig.

ROBBERS TOOK TEETH

St. Louis, Oct. 28.—After robbers had secured his money, they asked Justus Jalger, sporting writer, if he had anything else. He smiled and said he had two gold teeth. The robbers then hit him in the mouth with a revolver and removed his teeth.

Will Open Studio Here.

Mr. Robert Wilkins, who attracted a great deal of complimentary notice with his bust of the late President William McKinley, will open a studio in the Fraternity building.

"The Covenanters."

"The Covenanters," a men's society, was organized at the First Presbyterian church yesterday morning, with more than 100 members. Mr. Luke Russell was elected president; Mr. Harry Hank, secretary, and Mr. H. S. Wells, treasurer. Another meeting will be held next Sunday morning.

"Sunday School Worker."

The Rev. T. C. Gebauer, of Henderson, a state Sunday school field worker, and a man of wonderful attainments and natural aptitude in the work, spent Sunday in Paducah. He attended Sunday school at the Trimble Street Methodist church in the morning, preached twice at the German Evangelical church and attended Sunday school at Hebron and North Twelfth street missions, speaking at all of them. He is well known in this city and a very welcome visitor at the Sunday schools and homes.

Some Political Straws.

Culled From Columns of News-Democrat.

"A small coterie of Democrats in Paducah, possibly the number will not exceed a half dozen, are sulking silently in their tents during the present campaign, and much with the disposition of children, refuse to come forth unto the political family fireside.

"While not openly opposed to the local city ticket, they have not been heard to express their support of same."—October 12.

Last night's anti-Harrison meeting was a frost of the most decided nature. Eleven soreheads answered the roll call, and this was all there was to the much advertised anti-Harrison gathering.—October 17.

There is a chagrin among some and much rejoicing among other Democrats in the city. The former voted for placing on present ticket and latter against the choice of a man who was defeated and who is today one of the bolting Democrats and who spent Thursday in the southern end of the city "heeling" and working for the Republican ticket. The disgruntled Democrats are those who thought the man worthy of re-election—not endorsement, for he has been some seven or eight years the recipient of office as a Democrat—and the laughers are those who, claiming they knew the man's "size," voted against him. All are "on" now and in the sweet and by and by won't be apt to divide their votes.—October 23.

There may be some Democrats in Paducah who have long served in office through the votes of the party who will bolt the ticket and some who are disgruntled and will attempt to even up with the party by bolting.—October 24.

Another meeting of the cold storage crowd last night, seven strong—with the prospects improving. W. T. Miller, chairman of the finance committee of the Republican campaign, was present and in a measure dispelled the gloom by the announcement that the lid would soon be tenderly lifted from the barrel.—October 24.

Mr. W. T. Miller, chairman of the finance committee of the Republican party, denies the statement circulated to the effect that he was present at a recent meeting held by the Anti-Harrison League.—October 25.

FIRE AND FLOODS DESTROY PEOPLE IN ORIENT TOWNS

Marseilles, Oct. 28.—More than 300 persons perished in a fire in the town of Hakodale, China, and a thousand by flood along the west coast of Japan just before the departure of mail dispatches from Saigon, China, August 25, received here today. Hakodale destroyed and 1,400 houses burned, including the British and Russian consulates.

Grain Market.

Cincinnati, Oct. 28.—Wheat 102, corn, 63½; oats 52.

GIRLS GO ON STRIKE

Disagreement over the amount they should be fined for lateness to work caused 25 girls to walk out at Dreyfuss, Well & company's this morning, and the firm is advertising for girls to take the strikers' places. The girls have submitted a set of grievances, which so far have not met with the approval of the firm.

BOUND TO SUCCEED

Messrs. Charles Fisher and Joseph Roth have acquired the business of Mr. Percy Jordan, owner of the Diamond Stamp and Stencil Works. Mr. Jordan goes west in a few weeks, and the new managers of the stencil works will conduct the business on the same conservative lines mapped out by Mr. Jordan. They are well known young business men and will doubtless make a success of the enterprise. Mr. Roth is bookkeeper of The Sun Publishing company, and Mr. Fisher is pressman.

GOV. CHARLES E. HUGHES.

CONTINUE TO BUY DESPITE PROTEST OF THE PLANTERS

Carlisle, Oct. 28.—(Special).—Growers of Nicholas and Bath counties have agreed not to raise any tobacco in 1908.

Will Buy as Usual.

Henderson, Oct. 28.—(Special).—All tobacco companies in this city, including the American and Imperial, are advertising in the local papers that they will buy tobacco as usual this winter, despite the request of the growers.

Morganfield, Ky., Oct. 28.—(Special).—Buyers in this city and Uniontown were visited by growers and urged to stop buying at once.

Big Purchase.

Louisville, Oct. 28.—(Special).—During the past week big independent buyers bought 346 hogheads of Green river 1905 tobacco in brakes here and paid about $5,000.

Will Protect Rights.

Owensboro, Ky., Oct. 28.—(Special).—Prominent planters and business men here organized a shotgun brigade to protect barns and will shoot to kill if any effort is made to prevent them delivering tobacco, which has been sold.

HAGERS AUDIENCE

Murray, Ky., Oct. 28.—(Special).—When Auditor S. W. Hager reached Murray this morning on his campaign tour, he was met at the station by J. D. Rowley, who alone thought it worth his while to show this courtesy to the candidate for governor. There is a big crowd in Murray, as it is county court day, but the people are not hearing Mr. Hager talk. His crowd in the court room is small and dwindled all through the speaking.

NEW RINK OPENING

All the decorations which are to be used in ornamenting the skating rink have arrived and workmen began this morning putting them up. The national colors are to be used in the decorating scheme and fully 2,000 yards of bunting, 150 flags and 200 Japanese lanterns will be required. The mechanical military band arrived today and will be set up in a few days—just as soon as the floor is completed. Work on the last layer of the floor was started today and the management will throw open the rink as soon as it is completed, somewhere between the 5th and 10th of November.

MRS. W. A. FREEMAN

News reached Paducah yesterday of the death of Mrs. W. A. Freeman, wife of the Rev. W. A. Freeman, a leading Methodist minister of the Methodist conference and president, elder of the Paducah district a few years ago. Mrs. Freeman died at Covington, Tenn., where Mr. Freeman is now stationed, on Saturday night, and it is presumed suddenly, as friends here had heard nothing of her serious illness. The funeral took place yesterday at Covington and the body was taken to Memphis for burial today. Mrs. Freeman was a much beloved woman. She was an ideal minister's wife and a great assistant to her husband, although never strong physically. Their companionship was most sympathetic and devoted. Mr. Freeman had no children.

FINANCIAL WORLD NORMAL AND STABILITY NOW WILL BE CERTAINTY ON MONEY STREET

OTEGA TRIBE OF RED MEN EULOGIZE THOSE WHO DIED

The Otega tribe, No. 60, Improved Order of Red Men, celebrated their annual memorial services yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Broadway Methodist church. A large congregation was present and the service was a most impressive one. The altar was banked with ferns and palms and the United States flag was draped over the pulpit.

A very beautiful musical program was rendered by a select choir under the lead of Mrs. Samuel H. Winstead. Miss Caroline Ham and Mr. Richard Scott were the soloists. Mrs. Lella Wade Lewis and Mr. John U. Robinson rendered an effective duet, "Lead Kindly Light" was sung by a quartet consisting of: Mrs. Lella Wade Lewis, Mrs. Samuel T. Hubbard, Messrs. Robert Chastaine and Emmett Bagby. "Rock of Ages" and "America" were sung by the tribe and congregation. The Rev. W. T. Bolling pronounced the invocation.

The ritual of the "Day of Sorrow" is an impressive one. C. F. Wistach, chief of records, called the roll of the deceased members, who are: John McNulty, 1902; Peter Rogers, 1903; Jesse M. Gilbert, 1903; Lucy Dunn, 1904; Henry C. Allison, 1905; George Detzel, 1905; Wm. B. Gholson, 1905; Jake Polz, 1905; James F. Crow, 1905; Elihu Harris, 1905; Wade F. Short, 1905; Wm. A. Winston, 1906; Elwood Wilkins, 1906; W. J. Dicke, 1907; Will Rogers, 1907; D. L. Adams, 1907; B. H. Pixler, 1907.

Chief Alben W. Barkley made the address of "In Memoriam" for the four members who had died since the last "Day of Sorrow." Will Rogers, Will J. Dicke, D. L. Adams, B. H. Pixler. Mr. Barkley spoke with eloquence and feeling. Chief J. S. Ross was the other speaker of the afternoon, delivering a fine address on "Fraternity—Our Order."

OKLAHOMA STATE ON NOVEMBER 16-- NEW MEXICO BILL

Washington, Oct. 28.—Delegate Andrews, of New Mexico, will introduce a bill as soon as congress convenes, providing for the admission of the territory as a state.

State of Oklahoma.
President Roosevelt will proclaim Oklahoma a state on November 16. Governor Frantz today handed him a certified copy of the constitution.

MR HAGER HERE

Mr. S. W. Hager, Democratic nominee for governor, spent Sunday in the city and left this morning over the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis for Murray, where he will speak today. Tomorrow he will speak at Benton.

CLEM WHITTEMORE BACK

Clem Whittemore returned from Mayfield and other points in the district this morning and is again in charge of the local campaign for the Democrats. He will remain here now until the polls are closed. He has been out looking after the legislative situation.

WHY HE ENDED IT

Akron, O., Oct. 28.—Following the suicide of Fred A. Baron, cashier of the Dollar Savings bank, it was announced today the books show a shortage of $25,000. The bank will remain closed until after the funeral. An investigation is being made.

HIGH SCHOOL PENNANT

A pennant for the cupola flagstaff of the Washington school has been ordered by Superintendent John A. Carnagey, and is expected to arrive by the latter part of the week. The pennant will be 12 feet long and 4 feet wide at the widest part. It will be blue silk with white letters, and the cost is $7.35. Funds with which the pennant was ordered were secured by subscription in the High school.

Sunday Calm Relaxes Tension
Of Over Wrought Nerves
And Cleaning House Was Busy Preparing For To Day

Currency Will Be Paid And Hoarding Will Be Prevented
By Concurrent Action Of Concerns In New York

New York, Oct. 28.—General restoration of confidence is indicated by the banking situation following the improvement during the opening hours. Action of the clearing houses in different parts of the country, deciding to issue certificates is looked upon as a safety measure. Lincoln Trust company and Trust Company of America paid all comers.

A Holiday.

Oklahoma City, Oct. 28.—Acting Governor Wilson issued a proclamation making each day this week a holiday on account of the Kansas City clearing house issuing certificates. Every bank in Oklahoma will be closed this week.

Run on Bank.

Chicago, Oct. 28.—A run was started on the Hibernian bank. Over 200 people were in line. The institution is regarded as the strongest state bank in Chicago.

The bank refused to pay accounts but accepted notices of withdrawal from savings accounts. Customers were paid off by checking accounts with clearing house certificates. The Hibernian run was caused by a desire of easily alarmed depositors to get hold of their deposits, according to its president.

Cortelyou Satisfied.

Washington, Oct. 28.—Cortelyou was at his office today and says the New York situation is well in hand and he won't return to New York.

StH Closed.

Pittsburg, Oct. 28.—The Stock Exchange remained closed today.

Everything Peaceful.

Chicago, Oct. 28.—Advices from Cleveland, Cincinnati, St. Louis and other cities state the clearing houses decided to issue certificates. Trust companies will enforce the notice for withdrawals of savings accounts. There was no excitement when the banks opened, although the banks had policemen stationed near.

In Kansas City.

Kansas City, Oct. 28.—A receiver was appointed for the Bankers' Trust company. The clearing house instituted the certificate plan.

Kansas City, Oct. 28.—The state bank examiner took charge of the Bankers Trust company today, which has a capital stock of a half million and deposits of three-quarters of a million. The receivership is due to inability to collect on assets. It is reported J. E. Brady, one of the principal stockholders, who has been missing a week, is involved to a half million. The clearing house instituted certificate plan today.

New York, Oct. 28.—The feeling among banking authorities last night is that united action and wise counsels have already accomplished much in providing a solution for the financial problem with which they have been called on to deal during the past week, and that with remedial plans further perfected the promise is strong for the maintenance of financial stability. The usual Sunday calm gave the financial leaders opportunity to ease the tension of overwrought nerves experienced during the week. Most of them remained at home throughout the day.

The departure of Secretary Cortelyou for Washington removed a conspicuous figure from the field, but it was felt that with President Roosevelt's strong support, as expressed in his letter made public last night, Mr. Cortelyou's presence in Washington was favorable to such further government assistance as might be required.

At the clearing house there was much evidence of activity in preparation for the issuance of loan certificates. This, however, was confined to the subordinates, as the loan committee, which is to pass upon collateral offered for the certificates, did not hold a formal session. Another evidence of activity was the small knot of people gathered at some of the institutions where runs were in progress last week, waiting for advantageous position on the opening of business.

NEWS NOTES FROM SUNDAY PAPERS.

The New York Stock Exchange and the banks closed without any further failures of importance, with considerable improvement in the stock market and with several important remedial measures taken or agreed upon to strengthen the financial situation. The only reverse of the day was the suspension of the Terminal bank, Brooklyn, a new and small institution without any importance in the general financial world. As a precautionary measure, although not regarded as essential, the clearing house authorized the issuance of loan certificates. The statement of clearing house banks for last week shows that the banks hold $1,232,300 less than the legal reserve requirements. This is a decrease of $12,415,950 as compared with the previous week.

At a meeting of the tobacco growers who favor pooling, held in Owensboro, resolutions were adopted condemning any violence or intimidation that has been used to induce growers to sign the pooling contract. It is the opinion that if there is to be trouble it will begin when farmers who have sold are ready to deliver their crops.

The grand jury at Indianapolis indicted Henry Marshall, president of the Western Construction company and former speaker of the Indiana house of representatives, for alleged grafting in paving contracts. G. W. Baxter, cashier of the construction company, also was indicted.

The complete report of the census bureau on the quantity of cotton of this year's crop gained up to October 18 shows 4,407,955 bales and 24,934 active ginneries. In 1906 there were 4,931,621 bales and 26,125 active ginneries.

Hard Times in Kansas.

The old days of grasshoppers and drouth are almost forgotten in the prosperous Kansas of today; although a citizen of Codell, Earl Shamburg, has not yet forgotten a hard time he encountered. He says: "I was worn out and discouraged by coughing night and day, and could find no relief till I tried Dr. King's New Discovery. It took less than one bottle to completely cure me." The safest and most reliable cough and cold remedy and lung and throat healer ever discovered. Guaranteed by all druggists. 60c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

DOCTORS' AGREEMENT NO TRUST

Iowa Court Frees Physician Arrested for Increasing Fees.

Waterloo, Iowa, Oct. 28.—Judge Kelly at Charles City today decided that medical attendance and surgical skill are not commodities within the meaning of the anti-trust statute of the state and granted a writ of habeas corpus asked by Dr. W. A. Rohlf, of Waverly, one of the Bremer county physicians indicted by the September grand jury on a charge of violating the anti-trust laws by raising fees by agreement with other doctors. To bring about an immediate hearing a writ of habeas corpus was asked by Dr. Rohlf against Henry Kasmeyer, his bondsman. The state was made a party defendant. The decree has the effect of freeing all defendants, but the state will appeal to test the legal points involved.

SAVES $15,000 FROM HOLD-UP.
Paymaster Outwits Men Who Lie in Ambush With Rifles.

Pittsburg, Oct. 28.—With four men armed with rifles lying in ambush to hold up the paymaster of the Central Coal company of this city at Pierce station, near here, and rob him of the monthly pay for the miners, amounting to $15,000, Joseph Arkwright, the paymaster, frustrated the attempt today by alighting from the train at another station and driving to the mines over a route different from that usually taken by him. The plot to rob the paymaster had been known to the company officials, and they say this is the second attempt that has been made to carry it into effect.

FORTY NINTH YEAR IMPORTANT

President Roosevelt's Record
Has Been Busy One.

Spent His Birthday Quietly, Attended Church and Received Hungarian Club.

TOOK HIS USUAL LONG WALK

Washington, D. C., Oct. 28.—President Roosevelt was 49 years old yesterday. The twelve months just closed have been a busy period for the chief executive, and during that time he has accomplished many things for the public good. His words and deeds have kept him constantly in the forefront of the world's observation, and during recent weeks he has been more than ever, if possible, a conspicuous figure on the stage of affairs. In a variety of ways he has claimed the attention of the press and the community at large, but from many standpoints he has been most prominent in relation to the railroads and other great corporations. Incidentally he has done much to smooth away the ill-feeling between the United States and Japan over the disturbances in San Francisco, at the same time preserving a firm attitude by sending or arranging to send a great fleet of American warships to the Pacific coast.

Among the first public acts of his 49th year was the delivery of his message to congress last December. Later the president sent special messages to congress on the discharge of the colored troops of the Twenty-fifth infantry, urging ship-subsidy legislation, asking for prompt action in regard to the break in the Colorado river threatening the Imperial valley, and in regard to several other matters of more or less public interest and importance.

Early in the present year he sent Secretary Root to Canada to confer with the governor general on questions of common interests to the people of the United States and Canada. In March he reorganized his cabinet and in the same month sent Secretary Taft to Panama and Cuba to look into the condition of affairs there. Later he arranged the famous around-the-world trip for the secretary of war, the results of which are expected to be of great importance in cementing the friendly relations of the United States and several foreign countries.

Early in the year he gave considerable attention to the disturbed condition of affairs in Central America and finally made a successful intervention in behalf of arbitration to settle the hostilities between Nicaragua and Honduras.

In regard to the number and importance of his public addresses the year just closed has been a strenuous one even for the president.

He apparently was never in more perfect health or in better spirits than now, prepared to push his policies with the utmost vigor during the sixteen months he is to remain at the helm of the nation's affairs.

According to announcement made at the white house no arrangements were made for any celebration of the president's birthday, and he passed the day much according to the routine which usually marks his observance of the Sabbath. The only reminder of the approach was the arrival of a number of early messages of congratulation. These came from friends and admirers in all sections of the country.

Cross Country in Rain.

Washington, Oct. 28.—Yesterday was President Roosevelt's forty-ninth birthday. No celebration marked the event. He did not part from his customary Sunday program of worship, work and recreation. The day was spent at the white house fireside in a quiet family rejoicing. Congratulations in large numbers by mail, telegraph and telephone were received at the white house during the day.

President Roosevelt attended service this morning. In the afternoon, in a downpour of rain, the president, accompanied by the usual guard, went out for a long cross-country walk. Last night the president received the Hungarian club, of New York, in the east room when the visitors extended the chief executive their congratulations. It is the custom of the Hungarian club to visit Washington on President Roosevelt's birthday to pay their respects to the chief.

Out of Sight.

"Out of sight, out of mind," is an old saying which applies with special force to a sore, burn or wound that's been treated with Bucklen's Arnica Salve. THE TEST.

Mr. Harrison, the nominee for mayor, during the period of his legal practice has been associated in a business partnership with some of Paducah's leading attorneys. Among the number being Hon. Henry Burnett, now of Louisville; Judge J. C. Flournoy and Judge W. A. Berry, both of this city.
Says the News-Democrat in support of his candidacy. Undoubtedly no other young attorney in western Kentucky has had greater opportunity to distinguish himself at the bar
than has Tom Harrison. Hon. Henry Burnett enjoyed one of the most extensive practices in western Kentucky, and left his business to Tom Harrison when he went to Louisville to reside. This counts for little. The test is, whether Tom Harrison held that practice and increased it, or let it get away from him. As The Sun
had occasion to remark in reference to James P. Smith's qualifications for mayor; the fact that he was left
in charge of a big business counts
for nothing, but the fact that he was equal to the task counts for everything.

We learn from the Courier-Journal
the argument is used against Willson
in Graves county that he defended Bob Blanks, a negro rapist, and little effort is being made to distinguish
this case from the last one at Mayfield when swift justice was meted

Robbins, of Mayfield, if he were so minded, could do much to mitigate the injustice done Mr. Willson. He also defended Blanks. The two lawyers were appointed by the governor to defend Blanks. Every criminal is entitled to that in court. These two lawyers, Robbins and Willson, did no more than perform their sworn duty as enrolled attorneys, at the trial. Willson did not volunteer his services in the case.

Silently, like a political Arab, Clem
Whittemore, of Frankfort and Mayfield, who has been in charge of the local Democratic campaign since the first registration day, comes in and goes out before us, but his work beginning to appear. Under fire from the party organ, the factionists are preparing to assault the ballot. Indiscriminate charges of fraud and illegality have been made, in some instances against persons who have lived at the residence given as long as 30 years. The whole purpose is to frighten voters with prosecution,
hoping that they will stay away from
the polls simply to avoid threatened trouble. There is only one thing for the honest voter to do, and that is to obey the summons and appear at the hearing. We cannot believe that County Judge Lightfoot will lend his office to this scheme of wholesale disfranchisement, and we are confident that this scheme of intimidation and corruption will fail.

"Mr. Harrison expresses his desire in the event of his election, to have about him an advisory board, several of Paducah's safe and conservative business men." And, yet, unfortunately, Mr. Harrison in his campaign has not chosen his advisers from among Paducah's "safe and conservative business men," and human experience has taught us to trust our eyes when they contradict the evidence of our ears.

THE FACTS.

The statistics here given are taken from the federal census of 1900 and
the report of the state superintendent
for 1903-05.

"Keep the facts before the people
till the people alter the facts."

Total population of Kentucky 2, 147,174.

Percentage of illiteracy of total population, ten years of age and
over, 16.5.

Rank of Kentucky on the basis of this percentage, 37.

That is, Kentucky stands 37th in the list of states when their relative positions are computed on the basis
of their percentage of illiteracy
among the total population, ten years
of age and over.

Total white population of Kentucky, 1,223,309.

Percentage of illiteracy of the white population, ten years of age
and over, 12.6.

Rank of state on the basis of this percentage, 12.

There are ten of the best counties
in Kentucky, noted for their wealth,
good roads and historic families that show a total of 6,788 native white
illiterates of native white parentage;
just 92 fewer than the native white
parents in the whole state of Maine,
nearly twice as many as in the whole
state of Massachusetts, and over
twice as many as Nebraska.

Percentage of illiteracy of whole
population, ten years of age and over
in 1880, 29.9.

Percentage of illiteracy of whole
population ten years of age and
over in 1890, 21.6.

Percentage of illiteracy of whole
population ten years of age and
over in 1900, 16.5.

It appears from the figures just given that we made much less progress from 1880 to 1900 than from 1880 to 1890 in wiping out our illiteracy. What will the next census show?

Percentage of illiteracy of total
voting population, 18.8.

Rank of Kentucky on this basis,
38.

Percentage of illiteracy of white
voters, 13.9.

Rank of Kentucky on this basis,
46.

Percentage of illiteracy of native
white voters of native parentage 15.5.

Rank of Kentucky on this basis,
49.

There are thirty-eight counties in Kentucky in which the percentage of illiterate white voters is twenty or more, in eight of these the percentage is thirty or more, and in three
it is thirty-five.

In 1900 the whole number of illiterate white voters in Kentucky was 65,517, a number at least twice the size of the largest plurality in a state election in recent years.

The rural school census (white) is a little over 87 per cent of the whole school census of the state. There is scarcely fifty per cent of the children of school age in Kentucky in any school. What shall be done to put more children into the rural district schools, to provide them with larger terms, better school houses,
better roads to travel on and better
teachers? The present law permits
any county to vote a tax in better support of the public schools. Not a single county in the state is now using that privilege. Mason county has a special county tax but it was not secured under the present state
law.

According to the last report of the State Superintendent of public instruction, there are only 520 white districts out of a total of 7,585, that have a tax to lengthen the term or increase the salary.

The present term of the rural school in Kentucky is only one hun-

CHAPTER I.

A Dangerous Errand.

A city of hills with a fringe of houses crowning the lower heights;
half-mountains rising bare in the background and becoming real mountains as they stretched away in the distance to right and left; a confused
mass of buildings coming to the water's edge on the flat; a forest of masts, ships swinging in the stream,
and the streaked, yellow, gray-green
water of the bay taking a cold light
from the setting sun as it struggled
through the wisps of fog that fluttered above the serrated skyline of the city—these were my first impressions of San Francisco.

The wind blew fresh and chill from the west with the damp and salt of the Pacific heavy upon it, as I breasted it from the forward deck of the ferry steamer, El Capitán. As I drank in the air and was silent with admiration of the beautiful panorama
that was spread before me, my companion touched me on the arm.
"Come into my cabin," he said.
"You'll be one of those fellows who can't come to San Francisco without catching his death of cold, and then lays it on to the climate instead of his own lack of common sense. Come,
I can't spare you, now I've got you here at last. I wouldn't lose you for a million dollars."

"I'll come for half the money," I returned, as he took me by the arm
and led me into the close cabin.

My companion, I should explain,
was Henry Wilton, the son of my father's cousin, who had the advantages of a few years of residence in California, and sported all the airs
of a pioneer. We had been close friends through boyhood and youth,
and it was on his offer of employment
that I had come to the city by the Golden Gate.

"What a resemblance!" I heard a woman exclaim, as we entered the cabin. "They must be twins."

"There, Henry," I whispered with a laugh; "you see we are discovered."

Though our relationship was not close we had been fast in the mold
of some common ancestor. We were so nearly alike in form and feature as to perplex all but our intimate acquaintances, and we had made the resemblance the occasion of many tricks in our boyhood days.

Henry had heard the exclamation
as well as I. To my surprise, it appeared to bring him annoyance or apprehension rather than amusement.

"I had forgotten that it would make us conspicuous," he said, more to himself than to me, I thought; and he glanced through the cabin as though he looked for some peril.

"We were used to that long ago,"
I said, as we found a seat. "Is the business ready for me? You wrote that you thought it would be in hand
by the time I got here."

"We can't talk about it here," he said in a low tone. "There is plenty of work to be done. It's not hard, but,
as I wrote you, it needs a man of pluck and discretion. It's delicate business, you understand, and dangerous if you can't keep your head.
But the danger won't be yours. I've got that end of it."

"Of course you're not trying to do anything against the law?" I said.

"Oh, it has nothing to do with the law," he replied with an odd smile.
"In fact, it's a little matter in which

we are—well, you might say—outside
the law."

I gave a gasp at this distressing suggestion, and Henry chuckled as he saw the consternation written on my face. Then he rose and said:

"Come, the boat is getting in."

"But I want to know—" I began.

"Oh, bother your 'want-to-knows.'"

It's not against the law—just outside
it, you understand. I'll tell you more of it when we get to my room. Give me that valise. Come along now."

And as the boat entered the slip we found ourselves at the front of the pressing crowd that is always surging
in and out of San Francisco by the gateway of the Market Street ferry.

As we pushed our way through the clamoring hack-drivers and hotel-runners who blocked the entrance to the city, I was roused by a sudden thrill
of the instinct of danger that warns
one when he meets the eye of a snake. It was gone in an instant, but I had time to trace effect to cause.

The warning came this time from the eyes of a man, a lithe, keen-faced
man who flashed a look of triumphant malice on us as he disappeared in the waiting-room of the ferry-shed. But the keen face and the basilisk glance
were burned into my mind in that moment as deeply as though I had known then what evil was behind them.

My companion swore softly to himself.

"What's the matter?" I asked.

"Don't look around," he said. "We are watched."

"The snake-eyed man?"

"Did you see him, too?" His manner was careless, but his tone was troubled. "I thought I had given him
the slip," he continued. "Well, there's no help for it now."

"Are we to hunt for a hiding-place?"

I asked doubtfully.

"Oh, no; not now. I was going to take you direct to my room. Now we are going to a hotel with all the publicity we can get. Here we are."

In another moment we were in a lumbering coach, and were whirling
over the rough pavement, through a confusing maze of streets, past long rows of dingy, ugly buildings, to the hotel.

"A room for the night," ordered Henry, as we entered the hotel office and saluted the clerk.

"Your brother will sleep with you?"
inquired the clerk.

"Yes."

Henry paid the bill, took the key,
and we were shown to our room. After removing the travel-stains, I declared myself quite ready to dine.

"We won't need this again," said
Henry, tossing the key on the bureau as we left. "Or no, on second thought," he continued, "it's just as well to leave the door locked. There might be some inquisitive callers."

And we betook ourselves to a hasty meal that was not of a nature to raise my opinion of San Francisco.

"Are you through?" asked my companion, as I shook my head over a melancholy piece of pie, and laid down my fork. "Well, take your bag. This door—look pleasant and say nothing."

He led the way to the bar and then through a back room or two, until
with a turn we were in a blind alley.

After a pause to observe the street
before we ventured forth, Henry said:

"I guess we're all right now. We must chance it, anyhow." So we dodged along in the shadow till we came to Montgomery Street, and after a brief walk, turned into a gloomy doorway and mounted a worn pair of stairs.

The house was three stories in height. It stood on the corner of an alley, and the lower floor was intended for a store or saloon; but a renting agent's sign and a collection of old show-bills ornamenting the dirty windows testified that it was vacant.

"This isn't just the place I'd choose
for entertaining friends," said Henry,
with a visible relief from his uneasiness, as we climbed the worn and dirty stair.

"Oh, that's all right," I said, mag-nanimously accepting his apology.

"It doesn't have all the modern conveniences," admitted Henry as we stumbled up the second flight, "but it's suitable to the business we have
in hand, and—"

"What's that?" I exclaimed, as a creaking, rasping sound came from the hall below.

We stopped and listened, peering
into obscurity beneath.

"It must have been outside," said Henry, and opened the door of the last room on the right of the hall.

The room was at the rear corner of the building. There were two windows, one looking to the west, the other to the north and opening on the narrow alley.

"Not so bad after you get in," said
Henry, half as an introduction, half
as an apology.

"It's luxury after six days of rail-
roading," I replied.

"Well, lie down there, and make the most of it, then," he said, "for there may be trouble ahead." And he listened again at the crack of the door.

"In Heaven's name, Henry, what's up?" I exclaimed with some temper.

"You're as full of mysteries as a dime novel."

Henry smiled grimly.

Your Overcoat

Having Overcoat thoughts these days, Sir? Most men

this is serious business," he said.

I was about to protest that I could not know too much, when Henry raised his hand with a warning to silence. I heard the sound of a cautious step outside. Then Henry sprang to the door, flung it open, and bolted down the hall. There was the gleam of a revolver in his hand.
I hurried after him, but as I crossed
the threshold he was coming softly
back, with finger on his lips.

"I must see to the guards again. I can have them together by midnight."

"Can I help?"

"No. Just wait here till I get back.
Bolt the door, and let nobody in but
me. It isn't likely that they will try to do anything before midnight. If they do—well, here's a revolver.
Shoot through the door if anybody
tries to break it down."

I stood in the door, revolver in hand, watched him down the hall, and listened to his footsteps as they descended the stairs and at last faded away into the murmur of life that came up from the open street.

VAIN SACRIFICE OF DAUGHTER.

Swears Her Good Name Away, but Jury Finds Her Father Guilty.

Douglas, Ga., Oct. 28.—In an effort
to save her father from the consequences of killing her fiancé, Ida Summerlin, a pretty 17-year-old girl,
went on the witness stand and sacrificed herself, but her supreme effort
was in vain, for the jury found her father guilty of murder.

Ivy Summerlin, the father of the girl, is a prominent citizen of Coffee

county, and his victim, young Leo Manell, was a member of a wealthy family. Some months ago Sum-merlin killed Manell in his daughter's presence. When the girl realized that her suitor had been slain she turned to her father and said: "You have killed Leo; now kill me."

Summerlin declared at the time
that Manell had mistreated the girl,
but this she then denied, saying that she and Manell were engaged and were discussing their marriage when her father shot him.

At the trial, however, Miss Sum-merlin appeared as witness for her father, testifying that Manell had refused to marry her. The girl sobbed bitterly as she told the story, and
many in the court room wept.

The jury, however, was unaffected,
apparently, for a verdict of guilty was quickly returned.

You Would Not Accept Counterfeit

Money—Why Accept Counterfeit Goods?

Good money is made by the government in which you have implicit confidence. Good goods are made by manufacturers who are willing to stake their reputations on the quality of the material offered to you
through the medium of their advertisements in this paper. Counterfeit goods are not advertised. The reason for it is they will not bear the close scrutiny to which genuine advertised goods are subjected. Counterfeit money pays more profit to the counterfeiter. Counterfeit goods are offered to you for the same reason.

Insist on the Genuine—Reject the Counterfeit.

INVESTIGATE OSTEOPATHY.

It is a New Diagnosis, a New Cure, Aptly Called "The Sane Treatment of Disease."

Osteopathy is a method of blood-less surgical manipulations to remove any obstructions interfering with the proper transference of nerve force,
or the natural flow of the blood, or
the other fluids, to the organ, or part involved.

It liberates the inherent vital forces
of the body—the forces which, when allowed their full and unobstructed
way, have the power to gain and maintain a state of physiological equilibrium or health. In other words, allow nature to effect her own cures by a natural adjustment of any disorder in the system.

Bride a Popular Visitor Here.

"If a man knew he would be made president of the United States in five years it would not seem a long time to wait. But when that same man is waiting the same length of time so that the girl of his choice may become of age, it seems a century." So said W. E. Jenkins, a cigar dealer at Eighth and Walnut streets, at the parsonage of the Rev. Dan McGurk, 1326 Forest avenue, at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon just after he had been married to Miss Ambie McMeican, the 18-year-old daughter of James H. McMeican, 2924 Brooklyn avenue. The wedding of Mr. Jenkins and Miss McMeican was a quiet one, only the mothers of the bride and groom and Mrs. Ross Jenkins, sister-in-law of the groom, being present. It was not so quiet at the union depot, however, when the newly married couple left for the east on the Milwaukee Southwest Limited. A dozen or more "friends" boarded the train with the alleged intention of "riding around to Grand avenue with you." Before the train reached that point every piece of baggage belonging to the couple, even to the umbrella and parasols, were decorated so that there could be no mistake that there had been a recent wedding. When the assembly left the train at Twenty-second and Grand avenues there was the usual shower of rice and old shoes. The wedding yesterday was the culmination of a little affair of the heart which began five years ago when Miss McMeican was only 13 years old. After a trip to New York, Philadelphia and the Jamestown exposition Mr. and Mrs. Jenkins will reside at 17 North Jackson avenue. James H. McMeican, father of the bride, is a traveling salesman. —Kansas City Star.

Mrs. Jenkins is the niece of Mrs. George H. Robertson, 501 North Third street, and visited her aunt last summer. She is a beautiful girl and was very popular here.

Former Paducahan's to Visit Here.

Mr. and Mrs. Foster Nichols and daughter, Miss Margaret Nichols, of Brooklyn, N. Y., will arrive Wednesday to visit Mrs. Elbridge Palmer and Miss Frances Gould at "The Ferns." They will come from Henderson, where they are now visiting and are en route to St. Louis to attend a wedding. Mr. and Mrs. Nichols are pleasantly remembered here by many friends, made during a several years' residence in Paducah, when Mr. Nichols was interested in some government work connected with the river. He is a prominent bridge constructor and built the bridge over the Ohio river at Henderson. He is now chief of the bridge department of Greater New York. Their daughter is a most charming girl, a native Kentuckian, and this is her first visit to the state since her babyhood.

Pleasant Children's Party.

Miss Louise Carroll, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Carroll, celebrated her fourteenth birthday Saturday afternoon at her home, 311 Jackson street, with a party, which was attended by about 20 guests of her own age. Decorations were in pink, carried out with ribbons and flowers, and a most enjoyable afternoon was spent.

AMERICAN GENTLEMAN VISITS PADUCAH.

His George Washington Attire Attracts Attention of People.

The American Gentleman was abroad in the city today attracting attention wherever he went. At the Palmer Hotel he registered as the American Gentleman and gave his home as the United States. From the hotel he went down the different streets followed by an admiring crowd of small boys who envied him his gorgeous attire of black satin and his handsome buckled shoes.

The "American Gentleman," is a fine specimen of manhood. His George Washington clothes fit him like a glove. His features are prominent and resemble those of the father of his country. He looks aristocratic enough to be a lineal descendant of the late Mr. Washington. He may not be, but he looks the part. One thing he admits and that is, he is of colonial stock.

He will be in Paducah all week.

Perfect Womanhood

The greatest menace to woman's permanent happiness in life is the suffering that comes from some derangement of the feminine organs. Many thousands of women have realized this too late to save their health, barely in time to save their lives.

To be a successful wife, to retain the love and admiration of her husband, should be a woman's constant study.

If a woman finds that her energies are flagging, that she gets easily tired, dark shadows appear under her eyes, she has backache, headache, bearing-down sensations, nervousness, irregularities or the "blues," she should start at once to build up her system by a tonic with specific powers, such as the great woman's remedy for woman's ills, made only of roots and herbs. It cures Female Complaints, such as Dragging Sensations, Weak Back, Falling and Displacements, Inflammation and Ulceration, and all Organic Diseases, and is invaluable in the Change of Life. It dissolves and Expels Tumors at an early stage. Subdues Painfulness, Nervous Prostration, Exhaustion, and strengthens and tones the Stomach. Cures Headache, General Debility, Indigestion, and invigorates the whole female system. It is an excellent remedy for derangements of the Kidneys in either sex.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Our great earthquake last year broke one of the large plate-glass windows in my husband's store. He cut me a good sized piece from one of the fragments, and I find it the best bread or pie board I have ever used. As the edges are easily made safe by rubbing them with a fine file wet with camphorated turpentine it makes a convenient and useful "board." Dough will not stick to it as ready as to wood. It is fine for use with French candles and so forth.

GREAT BENEFIT IN THE LONG RUN

Will Be Financial Crisis
Which Was Just Passed

English Review of Situation is Optimistic and Confidence is Not Lost.

IT CLEARS UP THE SITUATION

London, Oct. 28.—No less authorities on financial and economic questions than Francis W. Hirst, editor of the Economist, and George Paish, editor of the Statist, have made highly interesting statements regarding the New York situation.

"I am inclined to predict that the present financial disturbance in New York will be productive of great benefits," said Mr. Hirst. "We must remember America's wonderful resources are always there and cannot be removed by temporary uneasiness. Important reforms in your currency and banking system and the amendment of your corporation laws, making it impossible to utilize trust funds for stock jobbing, really should be worth much more agony than has been or is likely to be experienced during the present difficulty."

"I don't think English investors will invest in United States securities until they feel there is some such security as I refer to. New York's wonderful advantage over such financial centers as Berlin, Amsterdam and Hamburg is a characteristic which is regarded in shallow thinking circles as its greatest drawback. Its troubles always come to the surface and in the process of washing its linen in the glare of the nation's limelight many valuable lessons are obtained which other centers might be slower in learning."

"I can always learn the worst about any disturbance in New York in a short time, and this is more than I can say about some other great financial centers."

London Congratulates Itself.

"The reverberation of New York's anxiety soon will reach London, but for the moment the people on the stock exchange are congratulating themselves on America's bondage, which means not so much paper here as a year ago. We are not so much dependent on American markets; at the same time, if the fabric of American credit is disturbed, London is sure to feel it. The same is true of Amsterdam, Hamburg and Berlin. My opinion is that the same thing will happen to America as England after the South African war. Then the capital resources of the country were severely depleted, and consols declined. These resources were replenished. In consequence a large amount of stored up capital was brought forward by investors whenever they saw securities fall to inviting figures. But London differs from New York in four points:

- "1. We don't deposit money in sham banks.
- "2. Our banks do not speculate.
- "3. We have a sound banking system.

"4. Englishmen's nerves are not so lightly strung as Americans, and consequently there is not so much hysteria here during a temporary disarrangement."

"Really, there is a lot of acting in Wall street during such a flurry as the present one. Then, too, we are not handicapped by men in high financial positions with 'shady' reputations, and consequently investors' minds are not kept in a perpetual state of suspicion. Then the Bank of England compels great confidence. The present bank rate of 4½ per cent may rise the moment gold is taken for America. This question is important to my mind, because the credit disturbances in the states are connected with grave commercial and manufacturing disturbances. How far the credit of the states is bound up in land speculation I am not informed, but eagerly await news."

Marks of Progressive Nation.

Mr. Paish said: "This is one of the recurring periods of crisis which marks it as a progressive nation. The states enjoyed ten years of almost unbroken prosperity. A slight de-

Everybody in Paducah is Eligible.

Old people, stooped with suffering; Middle age, courageously fighting; Youth protesting impatiently; Children, unable to explain; All in misery from their kidneys. Only a little backache first. Comes when you catch cold. Or when you strain the back. Many complications follow. Urinary disorders, diabetes. Bright's disease.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure backache. Cure every form of kidney ills.

John Stanley, farmer, living six miles south of Paducah, Ky., says: "My little boy, aged 12 years, has been a sufferer from weak kidneys for a number of years. He did not have any control over the secretions and this caused us much annoyance, especially at night, as they would pass from him without his knowledge. He complained of his back aching and was very often and last summer his general health failed him. We were annoyed every night with the kidney difficulty and he complained of his hips and back all the time. We had a doctor from Louisville treat him, but one week he would be better and the next worse. I had often read of Doan's Kidney Pills so decided to give them a trial, and procured a supply at DuBois, Son & Co.'s drug store. He took them as directed and at the end of the first week he was much better, as he could control the secretions and the annoyance at night, which had caused me so much work and worry, was removed. We continued to have him take Doan's Kidney Pills for three months when they had made a most complete cure and he is now strong and well."

pression in 1904 really did not interrupt progress, as it was entirely due to what one might term a false alarm of a crisis, railway companies in anticipation of a serious setback, having reduced orders for material and equipment. Financial crises arise for the most part from a nation having outrun its capital resources. No nation can progress faster than its new supplies of capital permit, and the volumes of trade in the states the last twelve months, indeed, the last two years, have been getting beyond their capital supply.

"Last year a crisis was averted by large loans from Europe. In 1907 the demand for capital has exceeded the supply to a greater extent than last year, and as Europe this year was not disposed to place much banking money at the service of the states, it became necessary for the latter to curtail industrial activity and bring the demand for capital down to the level of or beneath the supply. That one or two trust companies have come to grief is not a matter for surprise. Every period of overtrading reveals weak spots in the economic fabric of the nation, and indications to business men, statesmen and economists, are that measures should be taken to modify the practice and conditions in order to remove the disclosed weakness. I have no doubt the experience which the trust companies are now gaining will cause them to take such measures that their strength will never again be called into question."

Depression Not to Last Long.

"I do not anticipate that the present crisis will result in a prolonged period of trade depression in the states. The wealth production of the country never has been greater than at present, and all that is necessary to square things is for the American people to curtail their expenditures and carefully keep the supplies of new capital well ahead of requirements. The result will be that in a short time sufficient capital in abundant supply will be accumulated in the states and another period of great progress become impossible."

"Beyond economies by the American people two or three other factors exist which tend to cause trade depression to be of short duration. The first of these is the world's immense gold production, which will enable the states to secure all the gold they will require for strengthening the reserves of the banks and trust companies. The second is the prosperity of the railways of America. Their excellent management and conservative action in devoting about half their profits to betterments have given them strength to withstand a period of relatively severe depression without much inconvenience. Indeed, any depression which will increase the supply of capital available for investment in securities of high class character will enable the railways to raise money urgently needed for greatly increasing the transportation facilities of the country. The strength of American railway corporations at present is in striking contrast to their weakness in 1893, when, owing to the currency crisis, so many became bankrupt."

Expects Europe to Invest.

"Indeed, the financial and physical strength of the railroads and the low prices to which their securities now have fallen probably will induce considerable purchases of stocks and bonds by European investors, who realize a great change in the position of the roads in the last ten years. The inflow of capital from Europe for the purchase of securities of railways, and even industrial companies, will assist to provide that great fund of new capital which must be secured if the American people are to trans-

RIVER NEWS

Business was extremely dull on the river front this morning, no boats being in but the regular packets for Cairo, Evansville, Golconda and Metropolis.

The river continues to fall, though not so rapidly as last week. The government gauge showed a stage of 4.5 this morning, which is a fall of 0.2 since yesterday. This is the lowest point of the season and the different boats are tying up for repairs as their turn comes on the ways and docks.

The Bob Dudley, the lightest boat that runs the rivers, was forced to abandon its trip up the Cumberland and returned here Saturday night and is tied up at the bank. A considerable rise will be necessary before the boat can reach Nashville again.

The John S. Hopkins was in from Evansville yesterday and left in the afternoon for her return trip.

The Fulton arrived from Sisters' bar, near Golconda, Saturday night where she has been with a sand digger raising sunken coal barges off the shoals.

The Kuttawa returned from Sisters' bar Saturday night, where she delivered a coal digger that will be used in releasing sunken barges of coal from the bars.

The Royal, from Golconda, and the Cowling, from Metropolis, brought a number of passengers today, most of whom were southern Illinois people, who came to Paducah to do a still greater volume of business shopping.

nessee early in the morning. She will stay here until Wednesday night before returning.

The Reuben Dunbar is scheduled to go to Evansville today to take up the regular trips of the Joe Fowler while that boat lays up for extensive repairs.

The J. B. Richardson left at 8 o'clock this morning for Cairo. She will return tonight at 10 o'clock.

The General Pierson, an Illinois Central transfer boat in use at Memphis, arrived at Paducah Saturday night and will go on the ways for repairs.

BROWNS! BROWNS!

Plenty of Brown

SUITS AND OVERCOATS

For Men and Young Men

BROWNS seem to be "the things" in men's clothes just now. If that's the way you feel about it, it's worth while to know that we've got the best and largest stock of browns in Paducah.

Some time ago we began to realize that the popularity of browns for this season would be much greater than the merchants throughout the country had anticipated. Consequently week before last our Mr. M. B. Wallerstein visited Chicago, as well as the Eastern markets, and purchased the handsomest lot of browns you ever saw.

YOU'LL be surprised when you see how varied a line we have to show. Leather Browns, Tan Browns, Cinnamon Browns, Cuban Browns, Onion Browns--there are too many to mention all of them. The fabrics are beautiful in pattern and very rich in texture; the styles are exceptionally smart; best products of the best makers and most fashionable designers.

ALTHOUGH we've made a pretty strong special feature of browns, it doesn't mean that we haven't the other things to show you. We have grays, too; blues, blacks, olives and other beautiful colorings. Fine clothes for the best dressed men

$20 to $50

The Boys' Shop

WE have made provisions for the boys, too; a splendid assortment of boys' and children's brown suits and overcoats are on display.

"The Dudley" Combination Suits, with two pairs of trousers (plain and knicker) at $5.00 and $6.50. Knicker Suits with belted coats, from $3.50 to $10.00. Double Breasted Suits with plain trousers, $2.50 to $10.00. Children's Novelty Suits $3.00 to $8.50.

Children's Russian Overcoats in solid browns and brown mixtures, $3.50 to $10.00. Boys' long overcoats and reefers in rich tans, browns and grays, $3.50 to $18.00.

DIVORCE STATISTICS.

Census Bureau Gathering Some Very Interesting Data.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 28.—A report being prepared at the census bureau will show an aggregate of 1,300,000 divorce cases during the last twenty years. A total of 2,300 clerks and special agents have been at work for months gathering this data, and about 140 are still engaged in the task. There are about 40,000 remaining cases to be investigated out of the number stated before the field work is finished and the work of compilation proper can begin.

It is estimated that two-thirds of the persons seeking divorce have been successful in their suits. The report in detail is not to be made public until early next spring.

REMOVED TO WHITE HOUSE.

Miss Ethel Roosevelt Has Operation 4 Performed on Nose.

Washington, Oct. 28.—Miss Ethel Roosevelt, the president's youngest daughter, was removed to the white house today from the Episcopal Eye, Ear and Throat hospital, where yesterday an operation was performed on her nose. She is somewhat improved, but is attended by a trained nurse, and Mrs. Roosevelt is giving her personal attention to the patient.

Horror Not Yet Ended.

Rome, Oct. 28.—Exact particulars as to the extent of the earthquake and the correct number of victims are as yet unavailable. The reports are contradictory and there is much confusion in the locality of the Calabrian disaster. The latest reports are that there are 600 dead and over 1,000 injured. The soldiers are making attempts to connect, by means of the field telegraph, Ferruzzano with Brancaleone, where headquarters have been established, but the work is proceeding slowly owing to bad weather. Meanwhile it has been ascertained that the first help reached Ferruzzano at 2 o'clock in the morning following the earthquake. Several soldiers who had been employed for over eight hours in a march succeeded in reaching the village and strong detachments are now hastening to Ferruzzano, where many persons are still alive in the buried and collapsed buildings.

WITH SAME KNIFE.

Two Texas Laborers Fight in Dark and Hack Each Other.

Houston, Tex., Oct. 28.—A result of a struggle to the death in a dark room, with but a single knife for a weapon, Otto Miller and Arthur Langer are in the hospital, each with numerous knife cuts. Langer is expected to die. They are railroad laborers and occupied a room with three others. At 4 o'clock this morning a quarrel of last night was renewed in the dark, and for thirty minutes they fought, one using the knife and then the other, as they would force possession of it.

The others were not awakened until the men were badly wounded.
